

Product Backlog

19

The Product Backlog has to be fully defined before starting the first Sprint.

Avoid

While it is possible that in some project the Product Backlog is quite well formed in the beginning of the first Sprint, in most cases much less is sufficient to get started. Actively avoid the urge to define too much up front.

Product Backlog

20

It's good to store/save all Product Backlog Items, even if they are no longer valuable or are very old.
